

KeyedIn Solutions Launches New Website

Growing SaaS and Consulting Solution Provider Unveils Trove of Resources for Clients, Media

MINNEAPOLIS, Minnesota — March 13, 2012 — KeyedIn Solutions, a provider of SaaS and consulting solutions for companies of all sizes, announced the launch of its new website today. The new site is now live at www.keyedin.com. The new site details all offerings of both the business application and consulting divisions of the company, including:

- Resources for the company's on-demand, SaaS ERP (enterprise resource planning) solutions for the sign, print, and discrete manufacturing sectors
- PSA (professional service automation) and PPM (project portfolio management) solution resources for PMOs (program management offices) and PSOs (professional service organizations)
- Resources to help potential clients understand the methodology and range of KeyedIn Consulting Group's project rescue, technology selection, next-phase planning and value engineering services

Site visitors can access strategic white papers, case studies, and product data sheets for both divisions of the company. The site also includes leadership profiles, a Media Center with the latest company news releases and media articles, and an area for potential applicants to contact the quickly expanding enterprise.

"Our goal is to create the next global leader in Software as a Service (SaaS) business applications and consultancy," said KeyedIn Solutions CEO Lauri Klaus. "The new website gives us a better way to clearly articulate our value proposition. Our team is very excited about what the future holds for all our stakeholders — customers, partners, employees and investors. We're writing a very exciting story in business technology, and the new site is a fitting place to tell that story."
